

HANOVER FOREST

SCIENCE SEMINAR SERIES

FALL 2024

MONDAYS | 11:30AM – 12:30PM ET
NATURAL RESOURCES 338 & ZOOM
for.msu.edu/hanover

SEP 30 ANDREW EAGAR

Missing the fungi for the trees – What “mycorrhizal spillover” can tell us about current and future temperate hardwood forests and plant-microbe interactions under global change

ASIA DOWTIN OCT 7

Optimizing Our Approaches to Urban Forest Management

OCT 14 JEREMY JOHNSON

Genetic Insights for Sustainable Forest Health

RICH PHILLIPS OCT 28

Seeing the forest beneath the trees: Mycorrhizal fungi
as trait integrators of ecosystem processes

NOV 11 JENNY HELLMAN

Boots on The Ground: Lessons Learned from Reforestation
Efforts Around the Globe

PATRICK MOHNEY NOV 18

Crosscutting Issues and Programming in Michigan DNR – Office of Public Lands

Department of Forestry
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

